NEW HOPE UGANDA

New Hope Uganda was founded on a belief that God wanted family for the thousands of orphaned children in Uganda's Luwero Triangle following the bloody reigns of Idi Amin and Milton Obote. Jay Dangers and his wife Vicki moved their young family to Uganda in 1986. The Dangers were soon joined by Jonnes Bakimi and, to use a common Ugandan phrase, "slowly by slowly" a dream became reality. Director Jay Dangers and Ministry Coordinator Jonnes Bakimi still lead New Hope today but little else is the same as it was 24 years ago.

Today, New Hope Uganda brings the Fatherhood of God to hundreds of orphaned, fatherless, and abandoned children and reaches out to surrounding communities through its four ministries: Kasana Children's Center, Kobwin Children's Center, Musana Camps, and 107.8 Musana FM radio.
